

60 Second Interview

Ian Hamer joined Pruce Newman 11.04.01 as a Pipe Fitter / Welder. He is now working as an Estimator.

I asked Ian his 60 second questions, randomly picked.

Why did you decide to change jobs from working outside to indoors?

More stability, better prospects and liked the idea of spending More time with his wife and friends.

What is your most annoying habit?

I tend to be a bit of a control freak.

What is the best piece of advice that you have been given?

It is better to regret what you have done, than what you haven't.

What did you want to be when you grow up?

Architect.

What is your favourite place and why?

Derbyshire – I like climbing, walking and being outside.

What is the last CD you bought?

Alice In Chains.

What four people (dead or alive) would you like to invite to your dinner party and why?

Ozzie Osbourne, Jimmy Hendricks, Don Williams and Gordon Ramsey, because we could all appreciate fine foods and wine.

At the end of the day how do you switch off from work?

Extreme Sports.

Welcome Back Charles

Charles' appointment in the Project Team as a Project Manager after his short absence will ensure our continued high level of engineering expertise within the Company. His time away has given him an up to date snap-shot of how the rest of the Industry is fairing in today's fast track environment. We hope his cheerful and enthusiastic approach to work, will help in the development of the business through the coming months.

Charles says " I am delighted to be rejoining Pruce Newman where I can broaden my scope of knowledge within the Process Pipework Industry and also continue to strengthen my HVAC experience. The challenge of this management position will keep me busy and support my personnel career plan. Also, I would like to thank all who have given me a warm and friendly reception in my first few weeks".
